HELPED IN SOUTH DAKOTA RURAL SCHOOL CAMPAIGN

President Ira Richardson of the State Teachers College Home; Miss Anthony to Same Work

President Ira Richardson of the State Teachers College returned last night from a few days participation in the South Dakota campaign for better rural schools. The campaign is being conducted by the department of education and a hundred or more speakers, including several from outside the state, are organized into five crews, each with a captain. Each of these crews goes from county to county, starting from different points, and the teams of one or two each are distributed in the counties so that in each day a county is fairly well covered. The teams speak from two to three times a day.

President Richardson reports a fairly good snowfall the first of the week in eastern South Dakota.

The campaign will continue for three weeks, until the entire state is covered, additional speakers being provided to take the place sof those who cannot give their entire time.

Miss Hettie Anthony of the Home Economics department of the State Teachers College will participate in the campaign week after next.

CONCEPTION TO HAVE PARTY CELEBRATING ARMISTICE DAY

Rev. Fr. Ambrose, Returned Army Chaplain, Will Be Speaker; Box Supper Planned

This week Rev. Fr. Ambrose, for many years a member of Conception Abbey, though mostly engaged in mission work, returned home from France where he served for more than a year as U. S. army chaplain. He can stay here only until about November 15, when he expects to be called back to the army.

On Sunday, November 9, he will deliver a lecture at the Conception parish hall immediaely after the picture show that evening, at about 9 o'clock, the movies starting at 8 o'clock sharp.

Another lecture will be delivered by him on the following Tuesday, November 11, the day when, a year ago, our boys finished the war and the armistice was signed up.

The lecture on Tuesday evening will be in connection with a box supper, for which every lady is expected to bring a box or a pie, the two best boxes being entitled to prizes. Lecture and box supper will be preceded by some moving pictures so as to properly celebrate that day. The two lectures should prove exceedingly interesting on account of the eloquence, the army position aid the many opportunities which the speaker had overseas.

No charges whatever will be made at the entertainment on Tuesday, and only fifteen cents will be charged on Sunday evening, to pay for the expenses of the picture show. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the parish hall.—Conception Courier.

S. E. Farmer arrived in the city last night from Minneapolis to spend a few days looking after business matters and visiting old friends here.

READY FOR STATE RED CROSS DRIVE

IF ALL RENEW, MISSOURI WILL GO OVER ITS QUOTA

NOW FOURTH IN THE U. S.

Enrollment of 924,444 Members Puts Percentage High; Campaign Is Not For Money

Kansas City, Nov. 1.—Directing attention to the splendid membership record of Missouri in the Red Cross, W. C. Michaels, state director of the Third Roll Call campaign, today called upon all members in Missouri to renew their memberships for the coming year, during the Roll Call campaign which begins tomorrow and lasts until November 11.

"If every person who now holds a Red Cross membership renews that membership, Missouri will be 155,244 over its quota," Mr. Michaels said. He pointed out that last year, even with the armistice in force at this time, Missouri enrolled 924,444 members as against an enrollment of 743,200.

"Missourians generally do not realize that our state ranks fourth in the United States in percentage of Red Cross membership," Mr. Michaels stated. "Based upon the census estimate of July 1, 1918, Missouri's membership is 26.81 per cent of the total population. Only Iowa, Nebraska and Montana exceed this state in percentage of members.

"The peace-time work of the Red Cross is just as important as its part during the war. No member who joined during the war or last year should fail to renew his membership under the impression that the work of the Red Cross is over. Now, instead of the work at the front we must be prepared for disaster relief work, such as at Corpus Christi; instead of production of hospital supplies, the home service program; instead of caring for the wounded, we must do more to promote national good health."

Mr. Michaels called attention to the fact that the Third Roll Call is purely a membership campaign—not a campaign for funds.

"Every chapter, no matter how much money in its treasury, is expected to see that its quota of members for the Third Roll Call is secured, whether from renewals or new memberships," he said. "And I am confident that when the final reports are received, Missouri will have maintained the membership record in this campaign that it has set in preceding ones."

Team Will Play Football at Savannah Monday; Senior Party In Gym Tonight

The Maryville high school eleven will go to Savannah Monday to try out the Savannah high school gridiron. The game was to have been played Friday, but was postponed on account of a wet field.

This will be the local high school's fifth victory, and they are counting on bringing home the long end of the score. The team is in first class condition. They have a good record for this season, scoring 155 points to their opponents' 12, and they have made up their minds not to let another touchdown be made over the line this season.

If the roads are in good condition Monday, there will be a crowd of about a hundred and fifty fans go to Savannah to witness the Savannah defeat.

The beginning senior class of the high school will entertain this evening in the gym, the guests being the advanced senior class and the members of the faculty.

The sale on the pictures taken by the junior class has closed. They claim to have made an excellent sale. The profits will be given to the athletic association.

WON CASE WITHOUT EVIDENCE; JUDGE DAWSON HEARD TRIAL

S. E. Graham, Letter Carrier, Acquitted Yesterday in Kansas City Before Maryville Jurist

Judge John M. Dawson returned to Maryville last night from Kansas City, where he was trial judge in the case of Samuel E. Graham, a letter carrier, who was acquitted by a jury yesterday of the charge of embezzling $10,000 from the National Letter Carriers' Association. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's deliberation, according to the Kansas City Star.

Graham's attorneys offered no evidence in his defense. When the state rested its case the defense interposed a demurrer, and when it was overruled, announced no evidence would be offered.

The case was argued and given to the jury shortly after noon. In the arguments the defense maintained that, as an agent for the association, Graham had the power to borrow and lend money on demand notes.

Graham formerly was resident trustee for the association. The information charging embezzlement was filed against him in 1916. Until the case finally was called for trial last Monday there had been fifteen continuances granted in it.

The trial was heard by Judge Dawson, sitting for Judge E. E. Porterfield. The charges against Graham were filed in June, 1916. It was charged that he embezled $35,000 from the mutual benefit department of the association. At the time the case was filed it was stated that Graham's improper handling of the funds had been suspected since 1914, when he drew $10,000 of the association's funds.

The case was sent to Judge E. E. Porterfield's division of the criminal court, where continuance after continuance was granted on one reason or another. Graham retained a "rabbit" attorney, whose absence from the city was repeatedly used as a reason for continuance.

Officials of the organization telegraphed Judge Porterfield in 1917 urging a speedy trial of the case. Judge Porterfield became angered because of the messages and announced he would not sit as the trial judge. It was then Dawson was called in. When the case finally was called for trial fifteen continuances had been granted since the case was called in 1916.

Ed Otis Likes Colorado.

Ed Otis of Denver, Colo., in writing to the Democrat-Forum, says: "Please send me the paper to 2655 York St., and have sold out and bought a place on York street. The people out here are like they were back there. Just about the time I begin to get acquainted they make me move, so you see I might as well have stayed back there. We have the best water and climate in the world out here."

Now 594 Hunting Licenses.

And still they go hunting! A while back County Clerk Fred W. Smith was wishing he could sell 500 county hunting licenses, and then the ducks and the geese started flying over, and today the total is 594, and going strong.

MANY WOULD TRY RACE FOR SENATE

WITH FRANCIS OUT OTHER DEMOCRATS ARE MENTIONED

GARDNER A POSSIBILITY

His Record as Governor Favors Him; Several More, Including Champ Clark, Are Named

By A. T. EDMONSTON

Jefferson City, Nov. 1.—The written declaration of Ambassador Francis that he is not and does not expect to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator at the primary of next August will have a tendency to increase the number of possibilities for the place. Among those mentioned at present, besides Ambassador Francis, who has now eliminated himself, are: Governor Frederick D. Gardner, Dr. J. T. M. Johnston, Charles M. Kay, Attorney General Frank W. McAllister, Breckenridge Long, A. M. Dockery, Judge Daniel G. Taylor, Frank H. Farris and Champ Clark.

Ever since the Democratic powwow and love feast at Jefferson City Oct. 14, many Democratic papers of the state have been pointing with pride to the record and achievements of Governor Gardner in making his administration not alone an economical one, but also a highly efficient one.

Particular mention has been made of his "brilliant coup of paying a state deficit of over $2,000,000, a small portion dating back years, but which assumed exceedingly high proportions during the four years, 1909 to the close of 1912, that the 'mysterious stranger' ran the executive and financial affairs of Missouri with a free and uncontrolled hand."

Gardner Movement Gains Headway.

A movement which started during the Jefferson City Democratic conference to draft Governor Gardner to become the Democratic nominee for United States senator on the 1920 state ticket has gained headway in the rural portions of the state, say those who are responsible for it, and it only needs a little more fanning to make it a certain proposition.

So far, Governor Gardner has not, personally, or through close friends, made it known by sign or voiced admission that he has heard the call of a portion of Missouri Democracy to become the senatorial standard bearer on the ticket of next year, and there through help to again drive the mysterious stranger" from Missouri.

Close friends of former Governor Joseph W. Folk are of the opinion that he will not again, at least not in 1920, enter the contest for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, and as for 1922—well, that ,they say, is still a matter of the future.

One From Callaway County.

Charles M. Hay, who some years ago achieved state-wide fame by representing that Democratic stronghold, Callaway county in the legislature, and who is now practicing law in St. Louis, has Democratic boosters who are anxious for him to get into the running, promising that he will make a good showing out in the rural regions where he is well known and popular.

The name of Dr. J. T. M. Johnston, a St. Louis banker, who was at one time a minister of the gospel ,is also frequently being coupled with the coming Democratic race for United States senator, and he has supporters who declare he will walk away with the plum if he will only consent to enter the contest.

Long Has Supporters, too.

While Charles P. Higgins, formerly sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, and a few years ago excise commissioner of St. Louis ,has the honor of starting the senatorial boom for Breckenridge Long, the movement has gained some headway since then, with other Democrats claiming they are on the ground floor in grooming this possibility. Meanwhile Breckenridge Long still holds down his berth as assistant secretary of state in Washington, and, personally, does not seem, at present, to manifest any interest in the outcome of the race for the senatorial nomination.

There are those who are expressing a desire that Representative Frank H. Farris of Phelps county enter the race for senator and they are firmly convinced that his personal popularity will make him a formidable candidate.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL FUND STANDING TODAY AT $448.50

Will Run Until November 8, But Increased Interest Will Have to Be Shown Soon

Although it has another week to go, until November 8, the Roosevelt Memorial fund in this county is going to have to take a sudden spurt if it hopes to reach the goal of $1,650 assigned to this county. JUDGE'S REPORT AGAIN BLANK; MARYVILLE IS A MORAL PLACE

Not a Trial or a Fine in the Last Two Months; Was Different Once, Says W. L. Johnson

There's no gainsaying it—Maryvill is undoubtedly a moral town. W. L. Johnson, who is police judge in addition to other things, turned in his October report to the city commissioners today, and it is all blank, like the one for September.

Two months without a trial or a fine!

The judge has had some cases, but they were not city cases and do not go on the report. One month, the judge recalls, he had more than twenty cases to report, and there wasn't room on the blank for his record. That was a long time ago, however.

November business started out with a rush in the local marriage license bureau, the county recorder's office, when two couples took out applications today. They were Thomas O. Eads of King City and Robbie T. Gist of McFall; R. E. Musso of Lindell, Kan., and Ella C. Bollinger of Hopkins. The October total, which had a most discouraging start, reached twenty-four before the end of the month, which is far from a poor average.

Gordley Gains Thirty Pounds After Taking Tanlac—Had Suffered 20 Years

"I have gotten rid of my twenty-three years suffering since I commenced taking Tanlac, and more than that, I have gained over thirty pounds in weight and feel as well and strong as I ever did," said Edward Cordley, a well known painter, who lives in Berwick, Ill., a few days ago.

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered any more fro mrheumatism and kidney trouble than I did," he continued, "and it just seemed that I would never find a medicine that would do me any good at all. The rheumatism in my arms and legs were something awful, and many times I just thought I couldn't stand the pain another minute. Then, the pain in my back right over my kidneys was mighty bad, and I finally got to where I couldn't climb a ladder to do my work, and was so weak I actually couldn't lift an eight-pound bucket of paint. Added to all this, my stomach went back on me, and this trouble got so bad that if I ate a little dry toast I would suffer afterwards. I would have the worst cramping spells a man ever had and would be so bloated up with gas I could hardly get a good breath. I finally got to where I would be in constant pain for weeks at a time and had to give up my work altogether.

"That was the condition I was in when I commenced taking Tanlac. Well, the first bottle made a wonderful improvement in my condition; in fact, all my friends noticed it and would remark about it. From that time on I continued to get better until now, since taking about eleven bottles of this woiderful medicine I am once more a sound, well man. The rheumatism has left me completely, and I never have those pains in my back any more, so I guess my kidney troubles are over, too. I never had a better appetite in my life, and my stomach is in such fine condition that everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The whole truth of the matter is, Tanlac has completely overlome my troubles, and I am balk on the job working hard every day. Now, I claim that a medicine that will do that much for a man sixty years old and who had suffered for twenty-three years is worth its weight in gold, and as long as I live I will boost Tanlac every opportunity I have."

Pastor Advertises For His Flock.

We notice that Rev. J. W. Knight pastor of the Methodist church a Ludlow, a small town about twelve miles south of Chillicothe, Mo., inserted the following advertisement in the Ludlow paper:

Lost, Strayed or Stolen—A large flock of Methodist sheep. Have been gone for some time. When last seen they were browsing along the highway of Indifference that opens into the road of Neglect leading to the highway of Worldliness that ends in the state of Apostasy. Anyone finding them will please drive them home if possible and receive an ample reward. If they persistently refuse to come home, drive them into the nearest field, lock the door and report to the undersigned. Sufficient fodder for the entire flock will be provided next Sunday at the usual feeding place. All strayed sheep will be welcomed back. —Worth County Times.

MISSOURI FIGHTS EFFECT OF STRIKE

ACTION OF MINERS IN STATE IS STILL A MYSTERY

GOVERNOR INTO ACTION

Sends Telegram Offering Arbitration; Might Put the Convicts in the Work

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—With seemingly only an act of providence able to avert the threatened disaster of a coal strike, scheduled to become effective tomorrow morning, state and civic bodies were marshalling their forces today to combat ,so far as possible, the suffering and hardship expected with the walkout of miners in the state. The situation this morning was:

1. The action of the more than 8,000 miners of District No. 25, the principal, and practically the only important group of miners in the stote, remained more or less a mystery. All efforts to secure from the officials of this district information as to how they would meet the strike order had proved futile.

2. Governor Gardner, at Jefferson City, was anxiously awaiting word from John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers, in reply to a telegram sent by the governor late yesterday making a last minute offer of arbitration. The offer was made after Governor Gardner had received from F. W. Lukins, president of the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators Association, a telegram urging the governor to try and induce the miners in the state to accept an offer of arbitration.

3. No action has yet been taken by the state administration in regard to manning the mines with convicts from state prisons, which Governor Gardned had learned he had authority to do in case of an emergency becoming imperative, no intimation of such action had been given.

4. State Labor Commissioner William H. Lewis was keeping closely in touch with the situation and getting the "decks cleared for action" in his department. Just what this action will be was uncertain, but it was understood that the commissioner would act in any possible direction in which it might be found that hardship and suffering incident to the strike might be ameliorated.

5. The St. Louis farm bureau, representing farmers of St. Louis county, was prepared to take the lead of farmers in the state in manning the mines themselves and with their hired help. The St. Louis bureau had already passed a resolution declaring that "we wish the miners to have the best of working conditions and pay, but we believe they have these things in keeping with other labor. If the miners strike, the farmers of the country, with their families and hired help, will run the mines." The resolution backed up President Wilson in his stand regarding the strike.

6. The mine operators, according to a statement of Thomas H. Brewster, of St. Louis, chairman of the Mine Operators Scale Committee, contending that they had already made concessions on President Wilson's appeal, were "resting their case with the public as to the fairness of their position." Industries, railroads and private citizens were making last minute, frenzied efforts to lay in a supply of coal against the shortage, reports from over the eastern section of Missouri telling of runs on the mines and dealers.

Governor Gardner's telegram to Lewis at Indianapolis, read:

"I am in receipt of the following telegram: 'I desire, as president of the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators' Association, on behalf of coal operators of your state, members of our association, to submit entire controversy on wage scale to arbitration in accordanec with the statute and even the question of termination of contract, notwithstanding we contend it runs until ratification of peace or until April, 1920, same to be presented to arbitration jointly, with understanding that mines shall continue in operation pending full investigation on and final adjutsment of controversy. We make this offer in the hope of averting terrible calamity to the schools, hospitals, public institutions and the suffering of thousands of homes in your state which will be soon and vitally affected by a stoppage of coal supply by the miners' threatened strike. Kindly advise your views and suggestions on matter.

"F. W. LUKIN.'

"Missouri has a law authorizing the governor to appoint a board of mediation and arbitration consisting of three members, one of whom shall be an employer, one a labor union man and a third neither an employer nor an employe. In view of the above proposition made by the operators and in view of the method provided in Missouri for arbitration as I have outlined, and assuring you in advance that I shall appoint to that board men of high character and unquestioned fairness, also in view of the fact that a shutdown of the Missouri coal mines would bring untold suffering, particularly to the poor people of the state and the inmates of our eleemosynary institutions, I most respectfully urge that you accept this proposition and permit the differences to be arbitrated by this board, which I shall appoint upon your acceptance."

BUILDS "BAD ROADS" TO TEST NEW OVERLAND

Novel Course Constructed In Los Angeles to Demonstrate Capabilities of Overland 4

To demonstrate how fully the riding qualities of the new Overland 4, E. B. Wilson, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Willys-Overland-Pacific Company, has constructed a "bad road" in the heart of the Calfirnia city.

So far as is known this novel road is the first to be built for sales demonstration purposes. In the past it has been the custom for automobile salesmen to seek the smooth highways for demonstrating cars to prospective buyers. That the Willys-Overland has departed from this custom and is subjecting the Overland 4 to tests which ordinarily might be avoided, speaks well for the construction of this new car which will be soon announced.

The "road" constructed by the Willys-Overland in Los Angeles is described as being without parallel in the history of that city, which is widely known for its smooth-surfaced thoroughfares. It occupies a large tract of ground near the sales room of the company.

Although but a quarter of a mile in length almost every possible troublesome condition which might be encountered in th eroughest country has been included in this road. There are "bad" railroad crossings, numerous chuch holes, ruts, mud, sand, short turns ,steps, curbings, etc. Nothing has been omitted to test the capabilities of the new car. The test track is so unusual that the big motion picture companies have built scenarios of comedy and drama, which the track will be used for the main atcion.

In demonstrating the new models the Overland salesman will drive the prospective purchaser over these hazards in order that the passenger may judge for himself the easy-riding capabilities of the car produced by the new three-point spring suspension. The car will thus be sold on the quality it shows under what would ordinarily be oensidered the worst sales conditions. Adv

Mistake in Telegram to Internal Revenue Collector Postponed Operation of the Dry Law

St. Louis, Oct. 31. — Twenty-four hours behind the rest of the nation, 53 counties, comprising the eastern Missouri district, under the jurisdiction of Internal Revenue Collector George H. Moore, "went dry," at least in the eyes of the law, at 3:40 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and yesterday deputies from Collector Moore's office and city and county officials were scouting for evidence on which to base possible prosecutions.

Collector Moore blamed the delay in putting the law into effect in his district on a girl in a telegraph office, who, he claims, misread him a telegraphic message from Washington Tuesday evening. The telegram, sent out immediately upon the senate repassng the bill over President Wilson's veto, instructed Moore to put the law into effect at 3:40 p. m. "today" (Tuesday). The girl, Moore declares, read it "tomorrow" and he took it to mean Wednesday. It was not until he received the copy of the telegram Wednesday at his office that he discovered the mistake. In the meantime he had publishd in the newspapers that the law would be effective at 3:40 p. m. Wednesday. At that hour deputies were dispatched from the collector's offce with instructions to round up evidence.

Moore has a force of 150 deputies, including 50 field men, with which to enforce the "bone dry" law. He is also counting on police and civic officials to aid in gathering evidence.

With the putting into effect of the law, Attorney Charles A. Houts, representing the St. Louis Brewing Association and the Independent Brewery Companies, stated that his clients would probably bring suit to test the constitutionality of the law and to restrain federal authorities from interfering with the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer.

The hour is 2:30, and the place is the city hall.—Burlington Junction Post.

Fears Bolshevism From Soldiers.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—Speaking at the Presbyterian Synod of Missouri, in session here, Rev. J. I. McKee of Kansas City, of the delegates, who spent two years in France, voiced the fear that unless the United States government keeps its pledges to its soldiers, many of the ex-fighters will join the ranks of the Bolsheviki. He urged the passage of the Lane soldiers' land bill as a means of keeping ex-soldiers on the farm and away from the cities, where he declared many of them are flocking, causing an over-supply of labor and resulting in unemployment.

No Food Shortage Prediction.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—If over supply reduces the market, cheer up. Herbert Hoover said here in an address that there is a greater abundance of staple foodstuffs in public warehouses of the United States today than there has been for five years past. Central Europe's demand on this supply will never be grea tenough to cause a shortage in this country, he predicted. With this supply and the coming harvest there will be in the United States an excess of staples of between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 tons, said Hoover.

Youngsters Provide Pleasing Comedy.

Much of the comedy in "The Unpardonable Sin"—for there is comedy a-plenty in addition to pathos in this extraordinary Harry Garson production—is provided by two able little screen actors, who will be particularly welcomed everywhere by members of the Boy Scouts of America. One of the youngsters plays the part of a member of the Belgian organization of the Boy Scouts and the other announces to his chance acquaintance that he is an American Boy Scout, hailing from a little town in Kansas. The two youngsters match their wits against those of adults in the cause of Humanity, and get results which, in some instances, are as amusing as they are gratifying. Bobby Connolly, well known to picture patrons the world over, because of past performances, plays the part of the Belgian youngster, and Wesley Barry, a comparative newcomer in big photoplay productions, does remarkable work as the ragged little American who ran into so many difficulties when a terrible tragedy left him friendless and alone in Europe.

Champ Clark a Possibility.

Recently some Missouri admirers of Congressman Champ Clark have been busy suggesting that he is the Democrat of all Democrats to make the race for United States senator to defeat Selden P. Spencer, the present Republican incumbent, but close friends are of the opinion that the congressman would rather run again for congress, with the assurance that the country will again go Democratic next November, and that he will then again be elected speaker of the house.

Judge Daniel G. Taylor of St. Louis has been recently mentioned by friends as constituting good timber for United States senator. It is pointed out that his extensive acquaintance and general popularity in St. Louis, where he was on the circuit bench for years, and held other high offices several times would enable him to carry that city, and therefore, strengthen the 1920 state ticket.

IT'S NO USE! SINGLE MAN LIVES CHEAPEST

Washington, Oct. 31.—Official estimates for a "health and decency" budget for government clerks place the minimum expenses of a family of five at $2,262, an unmarried woman at $1,083 and a single man at $1,000.

These figures have been made public by Dr. Royal Meeker, chief of the bureau of labor statistics, in connection with the investigation of federal salaries by a congressional committee.

The food item in the family budget amounts to $773.90. The clothing bill for the year is put at $513.72, of which the husband is alloted $121.16, the wife $166.46, 11-year-old boy $96.60, the 5-year-old girl $82.50, and the baby (two years), $47. Housing, fuel and light are placed at $428, and miscellaneous expenses at $546.82, a total of $2,262.47.

If the wife was especially competent in the art of shopping, did her own sewing and practiced all household economies, the budget might be reduced, it was explained, to a "rock-bottom minimum" of $2,025.56.

The bureau, in compiling these estimates, makes a hat allowance for the wife of one and a half hats a year, $10 for a winter hat and $5 for a summer one, the winter hat to be worn two years. An item of $8.40 is allowed for a newspaper, held by Doctor Meeker to be a necesity. The family amusement appropriation is set at $40, which also includes magazines, though in general such luxuries as the latter, it was pointed out, are to be enjoyed at the public library.

Fright Returns Voice.

Reading, Pa., Nov. 1.—Peter S. Gerhart, 40, who lost his voice two years ago, was so badly scared when an automobile brushed him that he shouted out loud and can now speak as well as he formerly did. Gerhart is looking for the autoist to thank him.

The value is $50,000. The gold pieces are packed in especially constructed boxes, $25,000 to a box. It is one of the largest shipments of gold since the recent lifting of the embargo order since the war.

Does Shopping in Aeroplane.

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 1.—"Shopping by airplane" is the latest in Muskogee. Mrs. Howard Kenton of Okmulgee, shopped here the other day. She saw a hat in a local shop and admired it. When she got back home she decided she wanted it—quick. So Mr. Kenton hopped into his airplane, rushed here, bought the hat and returned to Okmulgee all in two hours. She got her hat in plenty of time for a party that evening. "I'll rely on airplanes hereafter," she declared.

R. R. Running for Servants.

Milton, Mass., Nov. 1—Maid servants, man servants and cooks of wealthy Milton families have induced their employers to back the bankrupt Blue Hill street railway and keep it running for their accommodation. Wealthy families have "clubbed together" and, dipping into their pockets, have raised a fund to back the trolley line for a few months, or until the results of the experiment are demonstrated.
